

RIPIN Family Voices Peer Support Groups

Who is RIPIN?

RIPIN is a local non-profit, peer-led organization founded in 1991 with a mission to assist individuals, parents, families, and children to achieve their goals for health, education, and socioeconomic well-being by providing information, training, education, support and advocacy for person/family centered care and system change.

Who is Family Voices?

Family Voices is a national, nonprofit, family-led organization promoting quality health care for all children and youth, particularly those with special health care needs. RIPIN's Family Voices program partners with families and professionals at the local, state, and national level. We provide families with the tools to make informed decisions and support them in developing leadership skills, so that together we can advocate for systems change to improve outcomes.

What is the purpose of a Peer Support Group?

Rhode Island Parent Information Network (RIPIN) hosts peer support groups to offer families an easy way to connect with others that have similar experiences. Our facilitators use their experiences to guide families towards appropriate resources and to build self-advocacy skills through peer to peer support.
